EHS excels, HCHS receives good report card

BY CHRIS BROOKE
editor@hclocal.com

Though Eminence High performed better than 95 percent of schools in Kentucky and Henry County High and Campbellsburg Elementary both showed improvement, other local schools crept backwards in their Kentucky School Report Card results.

EHS earned a "distinguished" rating in the education accountability report, ranking better than most other Kentucky high schools, according to the information issued Friday.

Henry County High School exceeded its educational targets and earned "proficient" and "progressing" designations on its report card.

Eminence Independent Schools

Besides EHS's distinguished designation, Eminence educators pointed out many good findings in the report for the high and middle schools and had good things to say about seniors graduating well prepared for the next phase of their lives.

"One hundred percent of Eminence seniors graduated 'college and career ready,'" according to information provided by Thom Coffee, EIS's instructional supervisor. "We believe this makes

Shipmates remember sailor who died in ferry accident

Brent McCreight

Sailors from the USS. Saratoga used their Sept. 27 reunion in Louisville to remember their shipmate from Eminence, who was lost in an accident on the Red Sea during the buildup to Operation Desert Shield, almost 24 years ago.

On Dec. 21, 1990, Brent A. McCreight, a 1986 graduate of Eminence High School, had deployed on the Saratoga as part of the U.S. military response to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait.

Parents Harold and Delores McCreight expected to receive a phone call from their son on Christmas Day, instead received the devastating news at the holidays that Brent had been killed in an accident.

At the time, like many other sailors, Brent had

Rape, burglary charges filed

A 36-year-old Shelbyville man has been charged with burglary and rape after a Sept. 29 incident at a New Castle home, according to Sheriff Danny Cravens.

Henry County Sheriff's Office deputies responded to a 911 call of an attempted rape in progress at 11:50 a.m. that day.

Deputies arrived and detained a man who was trying to leave the property, according to Cravens. Witnesses identified the man in custody as having allegedly entered the property without permission.

Deputies placed the man, Curtis W. Sanford, under arrest on the two felony charges, according to the news release.

Sanford was transported to the Shelby County Jail.

The investigation by Deputies Dean Murray and Matt Cravens is continuing.

An egg-cellent grant will help fight hunger

BY HEATHER HAGEDORN
news@hclocal.com

The Community Service Committee at Henry County High School will use a "Better Days Through Better Ways" grant to help feed the community by raising egg-laying chickens.

Sheldon McKinney, Executive Director of The Kentucky Future Farmers of America (FFA) Foundation, Inc. has given a $1,000 grant, sponsored by Paul Mulhollem and Valerie Cravens, to the HCHS group to raise egg-laying hens to provide a steady source of food and nutrition.

Sophomore Lilly Golden serves as the group's chair with six freshman rounding out the rest of the Community Service Committee.

"We raise chicks until they become laying hens," Golden explained. "We give them to people who volunteer to raise them and then bring in the eggs. We then donate the eggs to the [Henry County] Help Center and give them to people who need resources."

Absentee balloting has begun in Henry County

BY CHRIS BROOKE
editor@hclocal.com

The process of absentee balloting in Kentucky has begun for voters who will not be able to go to their polling place on Election Day, Nov. 4, according to a news release from Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes. Eligible voters may request mail-in absentee ballots.

Those eligible, according to the secretary of state, include: military personnel, their dependents, and overseas citizens; students who temporarily reside outside the county; voters who temporarily reside outside Kentucky (e.g., vacationers); voters who are incarcerated but have not yet been convicted; voters whose employment takes them outside the county for all days and hours the polling place is open; voters of advanced age or who suffer from disability or illness; voters who are participants in the Secretary of State's Address Confidentiality Program.

Voters may request an absentee ballot application from their county clerk in person or via telephone, fax or email, according to the news release.

Applications for mail-in absentee ballots must be received by the clerk's office no later than Oct. 28. The completed absentee ballot must be received by the county clerk by 6 p.m. local time on Election Day.

Individuals who do not qualify to vote by mail-in absentee ballot may still be eligible to vote in person prior to Election Day.

In-person absentee voting will begin in all counties no later than 12 working days prior to the election, although county boards of elections may permit in-person absentee voting to start earlier.

In-person absentee voting is conducted during the county clerk's regular business hours on voting machines similar to those used on Election Day.

In regards to in-person absentee voting, members of the Henry County Board of Elections gathered at County Clerk Juanita Lashley's office last Wednesday to conduct an accuracy test on the county-wide absentee voting machine set up there.

After the board made sure the voting machine worked properly, in-office absentee balloting began.

Those voters eligible to cast an absentee ballot at the county clerk's office include voters who will be: outside the county on Election Day; a student who resides outside the county in which he is registered; a member of the armed forces or dependent who will be outside the county or armed forces member confined to base on Election Day; a voter or spouse who has surgery that requires hospitalization on Election Day; a precinct election officer or alternate serving in a precinct other than their own; and a member or staff of a county board of elections or any deputy county clerk.

In-person absentee balloting ends 6 p.m. Nov. 3.

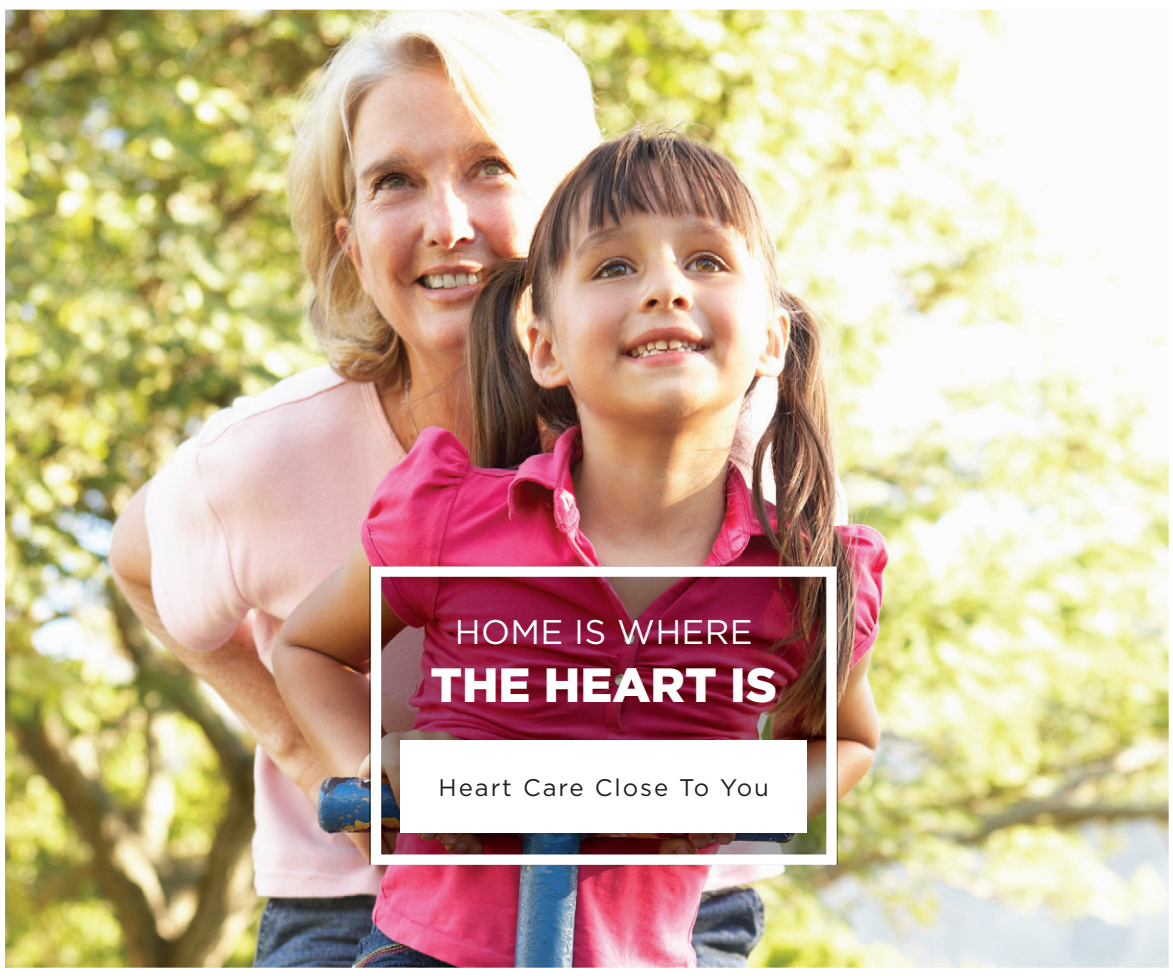

Persons with questions about absentee voting should contact the county clerk or the State Board of Elections.

Additional information is also available at www.elect.ky.gov.

"Leadership You Can Trust"

Dear Citizens of Henry County,

Going after state, federal and private dollars has to be a priority if we are going to improve Henry County's infrastructure, our economy and the overall quality of life. Over the past 12 years, I have built strong relationships with our federal, state and local officials. I worked with these officials along with various organizations and citizens to ensure that Henry County was successful in landing the projects that will improve our county and move it forward.

I have been fortunate to have been a part of a team effort that has helped to bring the following projects and dollars into our county over the past 12 years:

boarded a ferry to return from leave at Haifa, Israel, when the boat suddenly capsized.

In the immediate aftermath, media accounts from the time put the casualties at 21 and attributed the accident to a succession of huge waves striking the 57-foot, double-decker ferry carrying 102 sailors.

"Moments before it overturned, the bow of the boat rose out of the water and twisted, allowing its passengers no time to secure life jackets or move to safety, according to the survivors," said the Jan. 2, 1991, article in the Henry County Local. "They described the ordeal as swift and decisive as a bolt of lightning, taking only a matter of seconds."

Brent, an aviation electrician serving on the aircraft carrier, drowned as a result.

The Navy later decommissioned the Saratoga, but the sailors who served on the aircraft carrier banded together as the USS Saratoga Association with the goal of turning it into a floating museum, according to Sammy King, who helped organize the reunion in Louisville.

King, who lives in Owensboro, worked to keep the Saratoga from being scrapped, but the Navy changed its plans for the ship a few years ago.

Instead of allowing the group to save the aircraft carrier, Navy officials wanted to create a Saratoga display at the USS John F. Kennedy Museum in Rhode Island. King was among those in 2011 who selected pieces of the Saratoga to turn into a museum exhibit.

Flying home, King sat in the front seat on the airplane. His cap embroidered with the name of the USS Saratoga on it.

Another passenger noticed and dropped a handwritten note to King during the flight. It said that the passengers were good friends with the McCreights from Eminence, who had lost their son during his service on the same ship.

"That piqued my interest," King recalled. "If I had gone to the back of the airplane, our paths would have never crossed."

King already planned to propose holding the 2014 reunion in Louisville, and the McCreights living nearby gave him another reason to follow through with that idea.

"I feel like deep down, it was destined for that to happen," King said. "Here we are 24 years later, we're going to be in the town where this young man's from."

Though he struggled with the idea of dredging up unpleasant memories for the McCreights, ultimately King decided inviting Brent's family to the reunion and to honor their sacrifice was the right thing to do.

The common saying of a "band of brothers" — about the camaraderie among members of the military who served together — gets used a lot, but it also happens to be true, King said.

"I have a signature on my e-mail that says it pretty well: 'Saratoga shipmates are bound by a tie that others know knot,'" he added. "That's why we have reunions, we're family."

When the McCreights arrived at the reunion at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, the organizers made them the guests of honor, Harold McCreight explained. Association members put corsages on him and Delores, led them to the front of the ballroom and served them supper.

Harold and Delores McCreight, the parents of Brent, a sailor lost in a ferry accident on the Red Sea in December 1990, speak to Capt. Ron Jaeh, who was assistant air boss on the USS Saratoga at the time, at the USS Saratoga reunion held in Louisville. At left, Harold holds the recognition given to them at the reunion Sept. 27.

The McCreights then heard from Capt. Roland "Ron" Jaeh, who served as the aircraft handling officer and assistant air boss on the Saratoga from 1989 to 1991, the main speaker at the reunion.

From Jaeh, the McCreights learned details about the accident they'd never heard before.

When the ferries were taking the sailors back to the ship, one man got sick and fell over the side, the retired air boss told the reunion attendees.

"A lot of the boys went to the back to rescue him, and because of the weight, it tilted and capsized and a lot of the boys went over," Harold said. "When the ferry went down being that [Brent] was in the bottom deck, he couldn't get out. He was trapped."

Harold appreciated the Saratoga Association remembering Brent and honoring his service, as well as telling the family what happened that day.

"Losing a child is something you never get over," Harold said. "It's been 23 years, but it wouldn't matter if it was 100 years — it's something you never get over.

"When it first happens, you don't think you can go on, but by the grace of God, time heals. It still hurts real bad. You have to look forward, and some day we're going to see him again."

The accident happened just before Christmas, and Brent, then 23, would have completed his time with the Navy that February. Harold wonders if his son had lived, would he have gotten married, had children and what his life would be like.

A letter from McDonald-Douglas arrived for Brent at his Eminence home — the airplane manufacturer wanted to interview him after he left the Navy.

Harold still recalls the last time he and Delores saw Brent, when they drove him to the airport after a furlough. The six-foot, seven-inch Brent gave his mother a big hug and then turned to his father.

"Well, Dad, you better give me a hug — it'll be a long time before you see me again," Harold remembered. That was the last time they spoke to their son in person.

Another recognition King arranged involved requesting that Brent McCreight's name be added to Patriots Peace Memorial in Louisville near Thurman-Hutchins Park on River Road. The request has been granted and Brent's name will be added next May.

Each Memorial Day, just a few names of military personnel lost in the line of duty under conditions other than those of declared hostile action are added to the monument. Each name is etched in glass and replaces a brick in the memorial.

"This void in an otherwise solid wall becomes a portal of light transforming the interior by day and radiating outward at night through each name as a reminder to celebrate daily the joy of freedom purchased and safeguarded by these brave men and women," according to the memorial's website, www.patriotspeacememorial.org.

As a parent, King said he couldn't imagine the pain caused by having to bury a child.

"I hope we removed some of the hurt because he was our shipmate," King said. "I hope it means something to the McCreights, showing them Brent is not forgotten."

"They were very wonderful people," Harold reacted to the recognitions. "Words just wouldn't describe how nice it was."

He called the inclusion of Brent's name on the Patriots Peace Memorial a big deal.

"I think it's wonderful," he said. "There again, it's another honor to recognize him."

Trick-or-treating past, present and future

HEATHER hagedorn
Reporter

Rewind back to when I first began trick-or-treating. I was too young to have close friends, so my mom drove us to our cousins' house hours away to spend Halloween night with them.

We had a great time. I wore my first communion dress and a plastic crown my mom bought me as my costume and went as a princess, and my brother and sister were dressed as a hockey player and Snow White.

We spent what felt like hours running on sidewalks and through yards, house to house, asking for candy until our feet were sore, but we still kept going. It felt like the night was never going to end and we didn't want it to.

Once we got back to the house with all of our candy, we poured it out on the floor and traded what we didn't like and gave what no one liked to our parents to eat.

That was my favorite Halloween as a kid.

Fast forward three or four years when my family and I moved to a different house. We stayed home those years and trick-or-treated within our community.

We still went from house to house and collected as much candy as we could, and then brought it home to trade, eat and get it stolen by dad. We had a lot of fun then, too.

A couple years later, it was pouring outside on Halloween night, and our trick-or-treating options were limited. We tried to hit the houses that were really close together and then got back into the car each time so mom's car could keep us sort of dry.

I'm not sure when the transition was made, but we began getting a bit lazy and too big to run around house to house, and decided to hit downtown instead.

Downtown, there were a lot of people, too many if you asked me. There were people lined up at every shop door waiting for their turn to get candy.

Something felt wrong to me. What happened to everyone's original holiday spirit? Why are we all taking the easy way out and going to local stores to trick-or-treat instead of homes?

People put a lot of effort into decorating their homes for Halloween and appreciate when kids stop by to see them.

I felt guilty and missed those days when I went trick-or-treating with my cousins a few Halloweens ago.

The next year we didn't go trick-or-treating, and I realized those days were over. We had great fun as kids and I'll never forget the snowy, rainy, cold nights we braved to get just five more pieces of candy.

I'm glad that I was still part of the homemade Halloween costume era, before every kid was dressed in a store-bought costume that their parents picked out for them. I appreciate those few people that still go out of their way to decorate their front porch for kids, and even the people who give out the gross orange and black licorice.

While I think it's nice of stores to give out candy on Halloween, I miss those late nights when trick-or-treating hours weren't from 3-5 p.m., but went on until your feet got so tired you couldn't walk anymore.

I miss stopping by my neighbors' houses on the way out of the subdivision to show them our costumes and get extra pieces of candy. I miss those days, but I will never let go of the memories they gave me that will stay with me for the next fifty Halloweens.

Letters to the Editor

Another choice

We have three banks, two fast food outlets, three gas stations, two liquor stores, two dollar stores, two pizza stores and one grocery store. I would like [to point out to] the city council and mayor, after all these years of talking about economic growth, we still only have one choice of where to buy our groceries! We need "another choice."

You seem to keep everyone else out. I would like to see a list of records dating back 10 to 15 years to see who has tried to bring a grocery business to Eminence, but was turned down and why. The city seems to have gone out of their way to take in these other businesses, but let one business monopolize for years.

I am not going to be holding my breath to hear the real truth, because the rumors still persist as to why there haven't been any more grocery stores.

— Jimmy "Goodie" Goodloe, Eminence

Dream come true

In 2012, a steering committee was formed to determine if a small custom meat processing facility would be feasible in Henry County. That steering committee, composed of approximately 20 individuals and led by Chris McBurney, raised the funds to hire KCARD (Kentucky Center for Agriculture and Rural Development) to perform a feasibility study. The study indicated that our area was in need of such a facility.

It was at this point that Chris Wright and I began to pursue this dream. We have come a long way in this process and still have a long way to go, but we would like to take the opportunity to thank some individuals who have played a pivotal role in making this a reality for us.

First of all, the steering committee took the bull by the horns and got this ball rolling. That study gave merit to what we and many others have thought for years. Thank you!

Secondly, we would like to thank John Logan Brent. He has been instrumental in this process since we walked into his office in November of 2012 and expressed interest in the project.

John Logan helped organize numerous meetings with leaders throughout the state, including Rep. Rick Rand, Senator Paul Hornback, Ag. Commissioner James Comer and the Governor's staff, which ultimately resulted in a significant Ag Development grant from KADF (Kentucky Agricultural Development Fund), as well as Shelby, Henry, Trimble, Oldham and Owen counties. Without his assistance and contacts, we wouldn't be where we are today. Thank you!

And, finally, we would like to thank Steve Moore, Henry County Extension agent. Steve is a highly respected man throughout Henry County and surrounding counties as well as the state. He attended every meeting we went to and stood behind us all the way. He has a great passion for Henry County and its agriculture. His reputation proves so. Thank you.

In closing, we would like to invite the public to a groundbreaking ceremony we are having on Oct. 14 at 3 p.m. at the Henry County Commerce Park located at 7532 Carrollton Road in Campbellsburg.

We would love to earn the support of the community when we open the doors in 2015. We want to meet you now and every chance we get in order to begin to build that relationship.

Thank you Henry County for welcoming us.

— John Edwards and Chris Wright, owners of Trackside Butcher Shoppe

Do you really want "Growth"?

The challenger to our current Judge-Executive claims to be the "Pro Growth Candidate." Let's assume that candidate can actually make "growth" happen; a big assumption. If he really can, that's a good reason for me to vote for John Logan Brent. "Growth" is one of those things that always sounds wonderful, but the reality is not so great.

Although I've lived in Kentucky, by choice for 26 years, I come from a long line of dairy farmers in another state. In that area "growth" destroyed nearly all the farms. "Growth" caused huge traffic problems. "Growth" made everyone's taxes go up. "Growth" made a few very large landowners and developers rich, while the rest of us paid the price.

I lived in Oldham County when I first moved to Kentucky, then "growth" came. Traffic became a problem. Taxes increased. School overcrowding became an issue. Quality of life, in my opinion, went down hill. I moved to Henry County.

With all due respect to Shelby and Carroll counties, I don't want to live with rapid "growth." I think Henry County is a much better place to live in all respects. No, we don't have as many factories. I believe that's a good thing. Those factory jobs are a short drive away while we, in Henry County, keep our quality of life. Does your place of employment really need to be next door to your house?

There are many places that have lost their quality of life because of "growth." Judge Brent has given us growth; smart growth. The best places to live are usually not the counties with the biggest factories, or the counties with row after row of tract houses and "McMansions."

The candidate for Judge Brent's office says it's "time for a change." Do you remember what happened in Washington, D.C., when we went down that "change" road?

— Fleet Smith, Campbellsburg

August jobless rate drops for all counties in Kentucky

BY CHRIS BROOKE
editor@hclocal.com

For the first time on record, unemployment rates fell in all 120 Kentucky counties between August 2013 and August 2014, according to the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training, an agency of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

"The underlying message is that we have left the recession behind. That doesn't mean unemployment rates will decrease each month in all 120 counties," cautioned Manoj Shanker, economist at the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training. "The survey data is prone to volatility. The overall trend is positive, but there will be times – perhaps as soon as next month – when instead of all 120 counties recovering, it may be 100 counties."

He added this reverses the trend seen during the first nine consecutive months in 2009 — the Great Recession — when all 120 Kentucky counties experienced an increase in their unemployment rates.

For the month of August, Owen, Simpson and Woodford counties recorded the lowest jobless rates in the Commonwealth at 5.1 percent each, according to a news release from the state. They were followed by Oldham and Shelby counties, 5.2 percent each; and Daviess, Fayette, Franklin, Logan, Monroe and Todd counties, 5.3 percent each.

Statistics for Henry County places the unemployment rate at 6 percent, or 435 people without jobs, according to the state figures. That's compared to 7.9 percent from the same time last year.

State estimates put Henry County's unemployment rate at 7.2 percent for July.

The lower unemployment rate for Henry County is good news, but it's difficult to know what exactly led to the decline, Shanker told the Henry County Local in an e-mail.

With a labor force of around 7,500, even a few dozen more Henry County people finding work can cause a swing in the unemployment rate, he said.

"About 81 percent of Henry County residents are employed outside the county," he explained. "That means if more jobs are created in, say, Jefferson County where 27 percent of Henry countians work, then it helps to keep the unemployment rate low in Henry County."

Magoffin County recorded the state's highest unemployment rate – 13.3 percent. It was followed by Jackson County, 12.2 percent; Harlan County, 12.1 percent; Fulton, Leslie and Letcher counties, 11.5 percent each; Knott County, 11 percent; Bell County, 10.6 percent; Clay County, 10.2 percent; and Christian County, 9.9 percent.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working, the news release said. Civilian labor force statistics include non-military workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work.

Statistics do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks.

Davie one of twelve to participate in Ky. Master Agriculture Teacher Program

Lindsey Davie of Henry County High School participated in the Kentucky Master Agriculture Teacher (KMAT) Program on September 14-16 in Lexington, according to a news release from Matt Chaliff of the Kentucky FFA Foundation.

Davie is one of 12 selected from over 240 teachers of agriculture across the state selected to participate in the two-year leadership academy.

Over the next two years Davie will participate in a number of face-to-face meetings focused around the pillars of Authentic Leadership, Student-Focused Education Practices, Powerful Advocacy and Mentorship to Grow Professionals. In addition to face-to-face meetings there will also be book studies, online discussions and independent assignments.

During the first session in Lexington, Davie took part in team building activities, completed a personal strengths analysis, heard about education from experts and had the chance to tour the Locust Trace Agriscience Center in Fayette County. Future sessions will involve travel to other parts of the state, attendance at a national Career and Technical Education conference and meetings with leaders in education and agriculture.

"We hope that KMAT will help participants return to their schools better able to meet the needs of their students and communities," said Brandon Davis, Agricultural Education Consultant for the Kentucky Department of Education. "We know that teachers make the difference in terms of student learning and we want to be sure that these teachers are prepared to make a true impact in the lives of their students."

The KMAT Program is made possible by support from the Kentucky Corn Growers Association (KCGA) and the Kentucky FFA Foundation.

KCGA Executive Director Laura Knoth said that KCGA sees their sponsorship of the program as an investment in youth and ultimately in the future of Kentucky agriculture.

"We are proud to be part of this program," said Knoth about the teachers, "and look forward to the impact you are going to have in your local communities."

Foree vet clinic to become training ground for college

Lincoln Memorial University-College of Veterinary Medicine (LMU-CVM) has announced that Foree Animal Clinic in New Castle has qualified to become a member partner of the LMU-CVM Community-Based Veterinary Teaching Hospital system.

Foree Animal Clinic now becomes one of an exclusive group of qualified clinical course sites in which the fourth-year veterinary students from the college based in Harrogate, Tenn., will spend rotations gaining supervised quality clinical experience, according to a news release from Lincoln Memorial University.

Community-based education allows for a mutually beneficial, collaborative partnership between the veterinary college and quality community veterinary professionals.

Foree Animal Clinic met all facility, equipment, medical care and leadership standards necessary to join the Community-Based Veterinary Teaching Hospital system.

"I look forward to the questions that students have," Dr. John Baird Foree said. "Students can challenge the teacher as much as the teacher challenges the students. Both have a desire to be thorough, and in veterinary medicine, our patient receives the benefit.

"Veterinary medicine is a rewarding profession and I hope to pass that enthusiasm on to the next generation of veterinarians."

"Lincoln Memorial University-College of Veterinary Medicine is proud to enter into this partnership with Foree Animal Clinic and looks forward to many years working together to graduate confident, compassionate and competent new veterinarians," said Dr. Glenn Hoffsis, dean of LMU-CVM.

For more information about the veterinary clinic go to http://foree-animalclinic.beyondindigopets.com/.

the district one of, if not the first, to achieve the 100 percent mark in the state."

Test scores on the ACT and the Kentucky Performance Rating for Educational Progress (K-PREP) indicated that Eminence students can compete with those in other districts.

"The percentage of Eminence students meeting the ACT benchmarks (78 percent English, 43.9 percent math, 58.5 percent science) far outpaces the state averages (55.9 English, 43.5 percent math, 47.1 percent science)," educators noted in an e-mail. "The average score of Eminence's junior class on the ACT is equal to or exceeds the state average in every sub test — English, mathematics, reading, science."

For K-PREP, Eminence educators also sounded pleased about scores showing more students performing at the proficient/distinguished level for reading scores for grades seven and eight than the state average.

In addition, 80.5 percent of Eminence 11th graders earned proficient and distinguished scores as compared to the 56.1 state average, the report says.

Students also exceeded the state averages for proficient and distinguished scores for end-of-course biology and U.S. history tests, while falling just short of the state average for English II.

Eminence educators will try to boost K-PREP test scores that lag behind the state's, including 25.2 percent of middle school students scoring proficient or better in math, below the state average of 44.8 percent; the sixth grade reading score of 29.5 percent at proficient or better, compared to the state's 52.8 percent; lower results for sixth, eighth and tenth grade writing; and at 27.3 percent scoring proficient or distinguished on the Algebra II end of course exam, which falls more than 10 percentage points below the state average.

For Eminence Elementary School, educators vowed to keep "closing the gap."

Ranked at the 24th percentile in Kentucky, the elementary school dropped from the 55 percentile the year before and holds a "needs improvement" rating.

EES's overall accountability score fell to 57.9 for 2013-14 from 65.9 the year before, according to its report card.

Educators acknowledged the need to close the gap between Eminence scores in math, reading, science, writing and language mechanics.

Elementary reading at 50.3 percent proficient/distinguished is one of the better results, where the local scores are not far off from the state average of 54.7.

In terms of elementary math, EIS students had 34.9 percent proficient/distinguished rates as compared to 49.2 percent for Kentucky.

Coffee said elementary educators will review the writing and arts and humanities where the report card found the school performing less than proficient.

Similarly, teachers will evaluate the social studies curriculum and instruction methods, after the scores there came back 33.9 for Eminence compared to 58.2 for the state.

"A close look at the three-year trends, one that looks at the pattern of improvement since the K-PREP assessments began three years ago, unquestionably demonstrates that Eminence Elementary is on the right path," Coffee said. "The time is quickly approaching when Eminence Elementary will turn that corner."

Superintendent Buddy Berry feels proud of all students and staff in the system after seeing the report card results.

"With our belief that school is a 13-year process achieved by the hard work of all K-12 teachers, we are extremely excited that our graduates are in the top five percent of Kentucky," Berry enthused. "We are also thrilled to be the first school in Kentucky's history to score 100 percent college and career ready."

Henry County Public Schools

This is the second year in a row that Henry County High School reached "proficient" school status under the state accountability system, Superintendent Tim Abrams noted.

The number of students successfully completing their school career is something Henry County educators can feel proud of.

"The graduation rate for the 2013-14 school year was 94.3 percent, which is 7.1 percent higher than the state average," Abrams said. "This is an improvement from the previous year's average of 88.6, which was also above the state average."

Henry County also performed well in college and career readiness of students at 62.2 percent, which was also above the state average. Abrams said college and career readiness has been a focus of the entire district preschool through grade 12.

The state accountability system awards bonus points for students who are both college and career ready, putting HCHS's overall college and career rating at 76.5 compared to a state average of 72.

"It is evident from the district's college and career readiness numbers that HCPS students are being well prepared for college or a chosen career after graduation," Abrams said.

A bright spot among the end-of-course test scores, Henry County U.S. history students outpacing the state average 60.3 to 58 percent proficient/distinguished.

Students nearly matched the state results for Algebra II at 37.3 percent locally and 37.9 for the state.

"The high school obviously is doing very well," said Kricket McClure, assistant superintendent. "We're very proud of the efforts they've made there."

Over the entire district, the high school and Campbellsburg Elementary met their annual measurable objective goal for 2013-14 school year, the results show, Abrams said.

"Henry County High School is above the state average in growth in reading, math and combined reading and math," he added. "The high school is also above the state average in math and social studies achievement."

Campbellsburg Elementary went from an overall score of 59.3 to 63.7, Abrams said. CES "made great gains in overall achievement," with scores rising from 53.7 in 2012-13 to 62.9 last year.

"Campbellsburg also saw significant improvement in reading, math, science, social studies and writing," he said. "They also improved their overall achievement gap score of the same period from 25.6 to 41.8, a 16.2-point improvement."

Results from other Henry County schools show a decline of a few points from the 2012-13 to last year for Eastern (66.8 to 64.4); New Castle (64.4 to 61.4); and Henry County Middle (62.3 to 61.2). These three schools received "needs improvement" ratings.

Though Eastern and New Castle elementary schools and Henry County Middle saw drops in their scores, educators feel confident that the instructional practices, staff and leadership will lead to great improvements in the coming year, Abrams said.

"I see wonderful things happening at all the schools," McClure added. "Those don't always show up in the test scores."

Instructor Lindsey Davie is proud of what her students have accomplished.

"Lilly has set a high goal to have a community service project each month," said Davie. "We hope to keep this as a long lasting program."

One of the requirements of the committee is to provide a workshop under the supervised agricultural experience. For the chick project, one of the workshops will include different ways to cook eggs.

The committee will try and reach a new goal every month.

"In October, the choir will be putting on the 'Spooktacular Concert' where they dress up and give out candy to children who visit the school," Golden said. "This November, we will present a food drive as well as an ATV safety program. Every student in the county will see the presentation. A lot of serious ATV accidents have happened over the years."

The FFA meeting will be replaced by the ATV presentation with the goal of raising safety awareness.

HCMS and HCHS book clubs celebrate 'Maze Runner'

On Sept. 16, HCMS Media Specialist Katrina Johnson and HCHS Media Specialist Rachel Burgin teamed up to throw their book clubs a Maze Runner party after students read the book.

Sixty-three students showed up to celebrate the anticipated movie release by participating in six challenges related to the book.

The challenges included QR code trivia, decoding puzzles, creating logo and warning posters, identifying artifacts as they related to the book, discovering what character they would be in an online quiz and a journey through a haunted "griever hole."

After students competed in the six challenges, Karen Wilson and Lori Potts from the Youth Services Center provided dessert and prizes.

The students then excitedly watched the trailers for the movie while discussing the book.

"It was so much fun!" exclaimed Skyler Hewett, a freshman at HCHS.

The following Friday, students went to see The Maze Runner at the Regal movie theater in Shelbyville.

"I liked the movie, but the book was so much better," said Amber Young, a senior at HCHS.

The Library Media Specialists from both schools hosted a similar party last year for the book and movie Catching Fire.

"It's a wonderful way to get kids excited and talking about what they read," Rachel Burgin said. "Then they love to compare their vision of the book to the director's portrayal in the movie."

The librarians plan to team up again for Mockingjay (released in November) and Insurgent (released in March).

THE CARE AND FEEDING OF SHEPHERDS - PART 1

MICHAEL*duncan*
Pastor, Eminence Baptist Church

I assume that most of the people who read this monthly column have some connection to a local church. Even so, I try to write so that people who are not church-connected might be willing to read what I've written.

It is always my prayer that someone who is not actively pursuing a life of faith might be able in what I write to hear something of the gospel in words that are a bit less churchy. Also, while I am a pastor and my columns reflect my understanding of the Christian faith, I try to write them so that they don't sound too much like sermons. One of those a week is enough, even for a preacher.

Today I am diverting from my normal pattern and am writing specifically to church people.

There is someone who needs your understanding, care and love—your pastor. There are people who do understand, care and love their pastor; but there are many who do not understand the pastor's role and plight, and therefore may not know the pastor even needs care and love.

I sensed God's call to ministry when I was only 16. I didn't have a clue what ministry really was, nor did I have any real idea of what a pastor did. For the most part, I saw my pastors only at church on Sunday and at weddings and funerals. From that perspective, it looked like a fairly easy job.

Perhaps your experience and reaction is similar. If so, if you care about your pastor at all, don't crack jokes about her or him working one day a week. Trust me. It is not funny.

There are two aspects of your pastor's work that require more of him/her than you might imagine. Contrary to what a lot of people think, sermons do not drop from heaven into her/his brain prepackaged and ready for preaching.

Unfortunately, the idea that they do is too often fostered by some pastors who claim that they do. I will be the first to say that, without God inspiring the sermon development, I would have run out of sermons a long time ago; but they, with rare exception, do not just appear. Many pastors will spend as much as twenty hours a week just in study and preparation to preach, and preaching is just one thing the pastor does.

That which over time brings the greatest stress to your pastor is that she/he is on call 24/7, 365 days a year. She/he may have vacation allotted and days off, but trust me, her/his phone still rings, crises occur, and vacations, days off and family dinners, not to mention a night's sleep, get interrupted.

While none of us who understand our call can imagine doing anything other than what we do, we have all dreamed of having a job for which we clock in at 8 a.m. and clock out at 5 p.m.

Along with this, your pastor is carrying administrative duties that are both easier and harder because the organization being administered is one made up of volunteers. While it may not be easy to get employees to do what you want them to do, it is even harder to do so with volunteers.

At this point—preparing to preach and administrating the church, most pastors already have a 40-hour week filled, but they are not finished with the job. There are visits to make (hospitals, nursing homes, homes and sometimes workplaces). There are people to counsel, funerals to conduct and the grieving to comfort and weddings to perform.

If you take the time to understand all that your pastor does, don't be surprised to learn that she/he is regularly giving you, your church, and your community 60-70 hours of his/her life each week. She/he is as tired at the end of the week as you are after doing all you do.

Understanding, caring for and loving your pastor begins with your having and showing appreciation for all he/she does.

Next month I will focus on practical ways you can show that appreciation.

OLD HOMESTEAD FARM HOSTS CATTLEMAN'S FIELD DAY

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Roby Foree addresses the nearly 250 folks in attendance at the Regional Cattleman's Field day held at the Foree's Old Homestead Farm near New Castle. Roby is the eighth generation to farm Old Homestead Farm. He explained that the farm is an original land grant to Peter Foree for his services in the Revolutionary War. Roby and his father Bobby spoke about the scope and goals of the present farming operation. Participants of the Field Day were able to visit many booths and exhibits in a trade show area and were treated to a wagon tour of the farm and to several educational displays and presentations concerning cattle feeding, health and marketing. A sponsored beef supper was served in the barnyard.

A great crowd of cattle producers from Henry, Shelby, Oldham and Trimble Counties attended the Annual Regional Cattleman's Field Day, Wednesday, Oct. 1, at Old Homestead Farm in Henry County. The land was awarded to Peter Foree for his services in the Revolutionary War, with Bobby and Jean Kay now representing the seventh generation, and Roby and Ashley representing the eighth generation to farm this land.

Perfect weather greeted the nearly 250 in attendance, who were able to take wagon tours around the farm to see the many forage/livestock farming practices utilized in the large cattle operation, which includes both purebred and commercial cow-calf herds, as well as backgrounding and purebred animal finishing. UK Forage and Beef Specialists made presentations at various tour stops on the farm, as did Dr. Muncey Pryor and UK Veterinarian Dr. Michelle Arnold. Upon arrival back at the farmyard, participants were treated to a real nice 'trade show.'

A sponsored beef meal was prepared by the Cattleman's Associations of Henry, Shelby, Oldham and Trimble Counties. Sponsors included: PBI Bank, United Citizens Bank, Citizens Deposit Bank, Farm Credit Services, Henry County Farm Bureau Federation, Bluegrass Livestock Marketing Group and Kentucky 811, as well as the Extension Services from the four counties.

After supper, the group heard discussions from Roby and Bobby Foree, who explained the farm size, scope and enterprises. The entire Foree Family was on hand to meet and greet their many guests. Dr. Jimmy Henning, UK Cooperative Extension Service Director, Drew Graham, Assistant to the Dean, and Dr. Nancy Cox, Dean of the College of Agriculture, spoke about the long-standing partnership of local farms and farm leaders with programs of the UK College of Agriculture. While the Foree family had dealings with Cooperative Extension even before, in 1939 Bina Baird Foree became Henry County's first Home Demonstration Agent. David Maples, Executive Director of the Kentucky Cattleman's Association, was also on hand to make a presentation.

So many people, most of all the Foree Family, pitched in to make this Cattleman's Field Day a memorable one. This county agent tips his hat to each of the volunteers and sponsors for their efforts in producing a great social, networking and educational event at Old Homestead Farm.

GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONY

The Regional Meat Processing Facility that has been discussed and planned for the past two years by a local farmer/producer steering committee will be doing business as Trackside Butcher Shoppe, owned and operated by local farmers/businessmen Chris Wright and John Edwards. The official groundbreaking ceremonies for the facility will take place next Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 3 p.m., at 7532 Carrollton Road, Campbellsburg, in the new Henry County Commerce Park.

Contact the Henry County Extension Office at 845-2811 for further details.

THIRD THURSDAY

The October Third Thursday event, Oct. 16, will feature Holistic Grazing. This program is designed to give concepts to help you improve your forage productivity and reduce input cost. The presenter is Joshua Dukart, Holistic Management Certified Educator. The time will be 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the KSU Research and Demonstration Farm on Mills Lane.

As always lunch will be provided and there is no cost. The program is available to anyone that wishes to participate.

During the Regional Cattleman's Field Day, Wednesday, Oct. 1, at Old Homestead Farm, Dr. Muncey Pryor (far right) and Dr. Michelle Arnold spoke to the audience about herd health. Particular emphasis was given to practices and methods to prevent pinkeye in cattle.

UK Beef Specialist Dr. Jeff Lehmkuhler, at left, speaks to one of the several wagon tour groups during the Regional Cattleman's Field Day, Wednesday, October 1, at Old Homestead Farm. He discussed the opportunities which exist today to background calves and take advantage of available feeds and the cattle market prices.

Ways to avoid colds and the flu

UK COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE
University of Kentucky – College of Agriculture

Extension Notes

Family and Consumer Sciences

Maryellen Garrison
Henry County Extension Office

You don't want to spend this winter battling a runny nose, a nagging cough or a fever. But colds and flu come with the season, right? They don't have to. Try this advice from the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

Wash your hands

Wash your hands often. The viruses that cause colds and seasonal flu are spread by droplets, usually when an infected person coughs sneezes, or talks. The virus is airborne and enters your body through your nose or mouth, or from your hands after you have touched an object contaminated with the virus.

For instance, if you share a phone or a computer keyboard, or touch public door handles and put your hands near your face, the virus could enter your mouth or nose. Washing your hands for at least 20 seconds using soap and water is best for cleaning cold viruses off your hands.

If you don't have access to soap and water, consider carrying an alcohol-based hand cleaner with you.

Use tissues, then toss them

Don't stuff used tissues back in your pocket. Throw them away.

Avoid contact

Avoid close contact with people who are sick. Stay home if you are sick to prevent spreading your illness. When you cough or sneeze, cover your mouth and nose with a tissue or cough or sneeze into your upper sleeve.

Practice good health habits

The CDC recommends that you follow general recommendations to stay healthy. These suggestions include: get plenty of sleep; be physically active; manage your stress; drink plenty of fluids; and eat nutritious food.

Get a flu shot

The best time to get the flu vaccine is when it becomes available in your community, but getting the vaccine later is better than not getting it at all. The young, those older than age 65, and the chronically ill are most at risk for complications from seasonal flu. The CDC recommends an annual flu shot for everyone age six months and older.

Three different flu shots are available, and your provider will help select the right one for you. Two things to remember: Flu shots don't cause the flu, and getting a flu shot won't protect you against the common cold.

And as you are planning to get your annual flu shot remember to check on other immunizations that you may need because immunizations do not end when you reach adulthood. Vaccines for adults are recommended based on your age, prior vaccinations, health, lifestyle, occupation and travel.

Below are some recommendations from Kimberly Blanton with U.K. HealthCare that will help you make sure you have the protection you need.

What immunizations do I need?

A flu vaccine is recommended yearly.

Tdap protects against tetanus diphtheria, and pertussis (whooping cough). The CDC recommends the Tdap for adults 19 and older who have never received the vaccine. A Td booster vaccine (tetanus and diphtheria) should be repeated every 10 years.

Varicella is essential if you never had chickenpox or the chickenpox vaccine.

Measles, mumps and rubella (MMR) is important if you never received this vaccine or never had these diseases. Adults born after 1956 may need two doses if they do not have evidence of immunity.

Polio – Adults whose travel or job puts them at increased risk for exposure to polio should check with their doctor about a polio vaccine.

Hepatitis A – Anyone who will be in close contact with an adopted child from a country with high rates of hepatitis A and adults who will be traveling to certain foreign countries or have certain risk factors, should be vaccinated for Hepatitis A.

Hepatitis B – Adults 19 to 59 who have diabetes as well as adults whose travel, health condition or lifestyle increases their risk of exposure should be vaccinated for Hepatitis B.

What vaccinations should I have if I'm an older adult?

Pneumococcal vaccine – this vaccine doesn't prevent pneumonia, but it can prevent some complications. All adults ages 65 years and older need one dose.

Shingles vaccine – adults ages 60 and older need one dose, whether or not they've had shingles before.

Be sure to check with your health care provider about any other vaccinations might be recommended for you.

Educational programs of Kentucky Cooperative Extension serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Hot Shot the goat received his Permanent Grand Champion Status in early September, meaning he has been named Grand Champ Buck in three different shows, according to Kathy Jacobs of Goat Hill Farm, shown here with Myotonic Goat Registry Judge Karen Lamb. She took Hot Shot to the National Goat Expo in Bloomington, Ill., to compete in the Champion Buck Challenge, which pitted the goat against the Grand Champion Buck named in each show during the weekend. Hot Shot won three out of four of these challenges. At the end of the four shows, they bring back all the Grand Champions from the shows along with the Permanent Grands that competed, both bucks and does, and name the Supreme Grand Champion Fainting Goat for the entire show. Goat Hill Farm's Hot Shot was named the winner.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY

ADAM H. EDELEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable John Logan Brent, Henry County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Danny Cravens, Henry County Sheriff
Members of the Henry County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

Report on the Financial Statement
We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Sheriff of Henry County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2013, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting as described in Note 1. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the County Sheriff on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of each fund of the County Sheriff, as of December 31, 2013, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Sheriff for the year ended December 31, 2013, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as described in Note 1.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated June 26, 2014 on our consideration of the Henry County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Henry County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

Respectfully submitted,

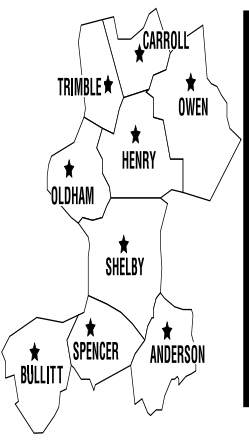

Adam H. Edelen

Henry's loss to Gallatin ends tough week

BY GREG WOODS
sports@hclocal.com

The Henry County Lady Cats dropped three matches last week culminating with an upset by Gallatin County. The loss to the Lady Wildcats left Henry County with a 4-4 record and the third seed in the district tournament.

The Lady Cats started the week with a 3-1 loss at Carroll County Sept. 30. The following night they lost to Collins 2-0 in what coach Katie Ruff felt was the team's best performance of the week and then returned home for a disappointing 3-2 loss to Gallatin County.

Gallatin 3 HCHS 2

The Lady Cats started strong against Gallatin County and it looked like it would be a repeat of the victory over the Lady Wildcats earlier in the season.

The game started tight as the teams traded points until at 6-6 the Lady Cats went on a 6-0 run highlighted by kills by Megan Payton and Paige Deburger.

Gallatin County called timeout to stop the Cats' momentum and it worked as they came out of the timeout to five straight points to pull within 12-11.

After a Gallatin County hitting error made it 13-11, the Lady Wildcats reeled off another five-point run to go up 16-13.

With the score tied 17-17 the Lady Cats committed eight consecutive hitting and passing errors to give Gallatin County a 25-17 win in the first game.

Henry County continued to struggle in the second game as Gallatin kept the ball alive and capitalized on numerous Lady Cats errors. The Lady Cats found themselves down 13-3 early and could never recover as Gallatin took game two 25-15.

The Lady Cats appeared to recover their composure in game three as they got on top early by a score of 6-0. Teagan Fish had two kills and Payton one in the opening run.

The Lady Cats extended the lead to 8-1 and then held off a rally by Gallatin County in the middle of the game before pulling away for the 25-15 win.

The fourth game started with the Lady Cats going down 4-1 before they rallied to take a 12-10 lead on a kill by Payton.

Gallatin called timeout and came out of the timeout to score 10 of the next 12 points to go up 20-14. Henry County within four at 21-17 but Gallatin scored the last four points to the game by eight points and claim the upset win over Henry County.

Coach Katie Ruff was not pleased with the team's performance.

"This was obviously not up to the standard that we expect and we need to get back to playing the way we are capable of playing," Ruff said.

The Lady Cat coach gave credit to Gallatin County.

"They have really improved and they went after every single ball tonight," Ruff said.

Ruff felt that two of her players stood out as playing well on a night where most of the team didn't perform well.

"Paige and Teagan played well," Ruff said. "Teagan had some good blocks. Paige played outstanding. She is really playing well right now."

GREG WOODS/LOCAL

Teagan Fish makes the block against Gallatin County in the Lady Cats' 3-2 loss Thursday night.

KRISTIN BECK/LANDMARK NEWS SERVICE

Paige DeBurger goes up for the hit against Carroll County in the Lady Cats' 3-1 loss to the Lady Panthers Sept. 30.

Collins 3 HCHS 0

Henry County traveled to Shelbyville Oct. 1 to take on Collins in the 'Volley for the Cure' match to raise money for breast cancer research.

Collins came out on top 25-18, 25-11 and 25-12 but Ruff thought her team played well against the talented Lady Titans.

"Collins is a really good team and I thought we played up to their level," Ruff said. "We had more blocks than we have had all season. We didn't let anything drop. The score doesn't really reflect how well we played."

Carroll 3 HCHS 1

The Lady Cats traveled to Carrollton Sept. 30 for an important district seeding game against the Carroll County Lady Panthers and got off to a slow start.

Carroll County won the first game 25-6 and even though the Cats took the second game, they could not recover completely, falling in the final two games 25-17 and 25-15.

"We obviously did not come ready to play," Ruff said. "There is no excuse for the first game, but I was proud of how we came back in the second game. However, we could not sustain that focus in what was a very important district matchup."

HCHS BOYS' GOLF

Wildcats compete in Region

BY GREG WOODS
sports@hclocal.com

The Henry County Wildcat golf team traveled to Nevel Meade Golf Course Sept. 30 to compete in the Region 6 golf tournament.

Alex Hadden led the way for the Wildcats with a nine-over 81. Isaac Klempner shot 87, Dustin Love shot 100, Jakob Beckley shot 105 and Adam Kent shot 110, but did not figure in the team scoring. The Cats had a total score of 373 to finish 15th in the field of 16 teams.

St. Xavier finished first with an impressive 12-under score of 276. Trinity finished second with a six-over 294.

Allen Hamilton of St. Xavier won individual honors with a 6-under 66. His teammate Matt Liston was second with a 4-under 68.

Coach Steve Galyon thought the team may have peaked a week early.

"We went into region playing our best golf of the year," Galyon said. "We were hoping to carry the momentum through the tournament but it didn't happen. Our goal, like conference, was keep all our scores below 100. I really thought we had a chance to get into the top 10. The back end of the region is down right now.

"We shot 29 strokes worse than the conference. Every body fell back."

Galyon did see some bright spots.

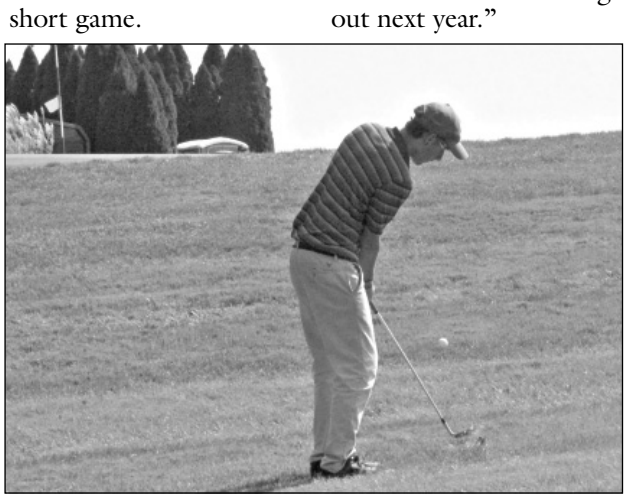

"Isaac only dropped two strokes from conference and once again proved that he is our most consistent golfer. The course was long and that does not work well for his game, but it shows that he has an incredible short game.

"Alex suffered off the tee and spent time in the rough, usually on the left side. He made some great recovery shots."

Jakob, Dustin and Adam played hard, but the course was too tough on this day. I appreciate the effort our players gave today."

Galyon ended on a positive note.

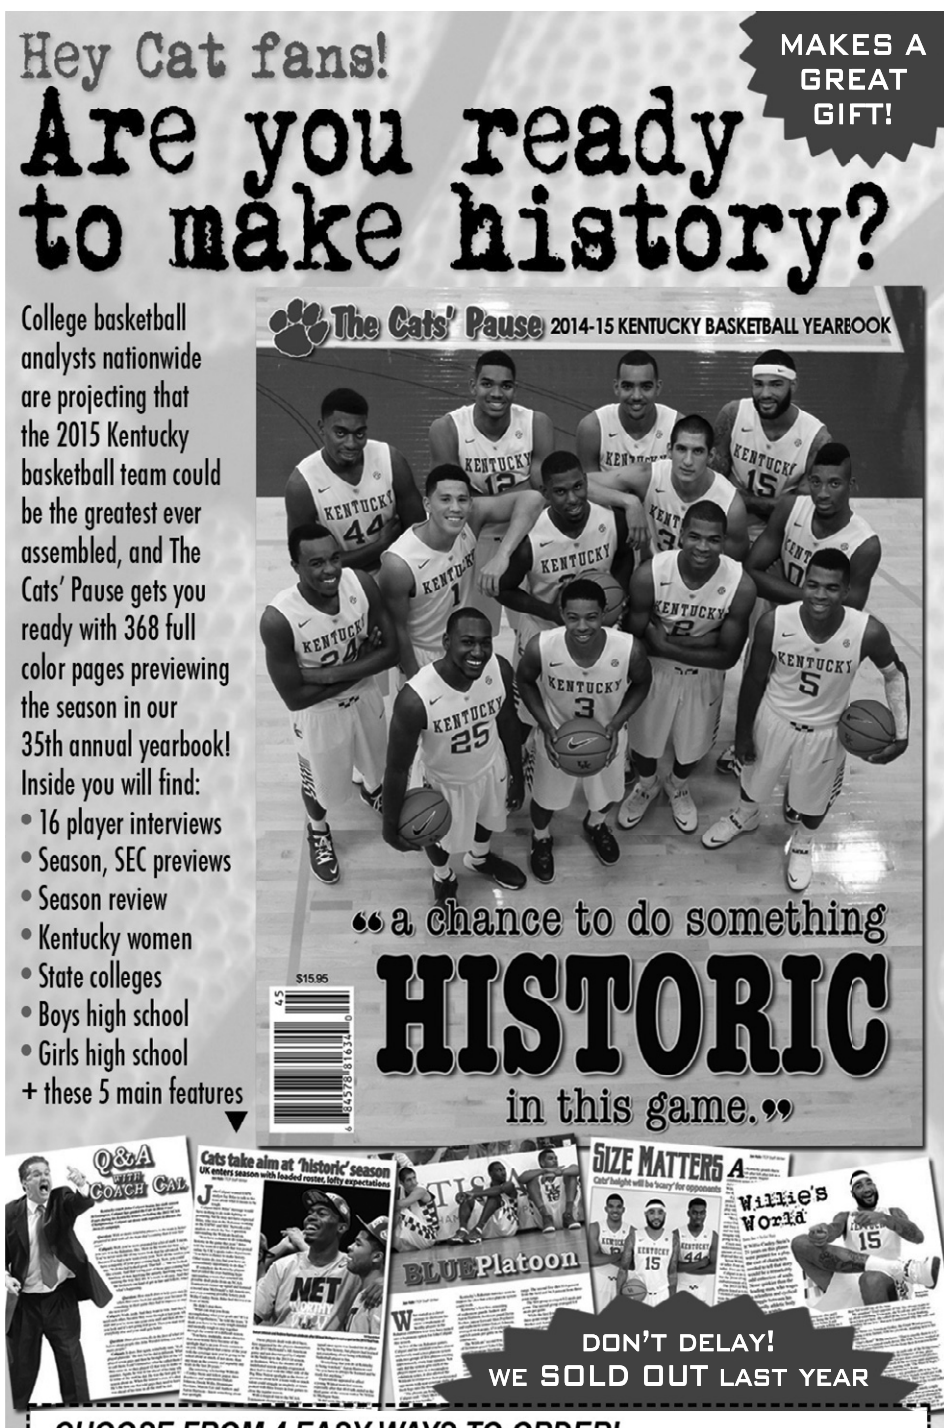

The future of boys' golf is bright," he said. "Everybody needs to work hard in the offseason. I would encourage any boys that are playing recreationally now to think hard about coming out next year."

HCHS SOCCER SENIOR NIGHT

GREG WOODS/LOCAL

The Henry County girls' and boys' soccer teams honored their seniors with a senior night celebration Sept. 30 between games of a double-header with Carroll County. Clockwise from top left, Hollie Jameson and her parents, Coleton Aneszko and his parents, Eric Gidzinski and his parents, Jacob Buckley and his parents, and Brennen Peniston and his parents.

RAIDERS

line after a short punt and on the first played of their second drive, struck for a 54-yard touchdown run. The two-point conversion run was good and the Warriors trailed 8-0 with 6:47 left in the opening period.

Neither team could get a drive going the rest of the quarter as the defenses held firm.

The Raiders got their second touchdown with 8:51 left in the second quarter on a 52-yard pass play on third and seven. The pass went for about ten yards but the Raider receiver broke several tackles on the way to a long run after the catch. The conversion run failed and the Warriors trailed 14-0.

The Raiders benefitted from a Warrior fumble to get good field position for their next score. After taking over on the Warriors' 29-yard line the Raiders got a first down on a 16-yard run to the Warrior 13-yard line. On the next play the Raiders completed another short pass that was taken in from 13 yards out with 7:21 left in the half.

The conversion run was good and Trimble County led 22-0.

The Raiders added another score at the 4:08 mark on a 25-yard run to make it 28-0 at halftime as rain began to fall on homecoming festivities.

The Raiders added another score early in the third quarter on a seven-yard run and then scored on a conversion run to make it 16-0.

From that point the teams played with a running clock and the Raiders added one more score with 9:42 left in the game. The Raiders kicked the extra point to set the final margin at 43 points.

Coach Paul McDowell is becoming concerned with the number of healthy, able bodies he has this late in the season.

"Our numbers are so thin that when we have an injury or two it is hard to put kids out there who aren't used to a position," McDowell said. "Sometimes we have a hard time having enough to even practice offense against defense in practice."

McDowell gave credit to the Raiders.

"Trimble had a lot of seniors and are much improved," he said. "They are well-coached and we were just outmanned."

McDowell is happy that the team is still putting forth a good effort.

"Our kids were trying," McDowell said. "The effort level is there. The coaching staff is trying to stay as positive as we can and I think the kids are for the most part."

McDowell saw some positives in the loss.

"Cameron Mathis and Marcos Garduno ran the ball hard," McDowell said. "They gave a good effort. We just have too many penalties and turnovers at crucial times. But that is a sign of a young and inexperienced team.

"Cameron Capps led the team with five tackles and he is a freshman who came out for the team late," McDowell said. "He gave a good effort and has a lot of potential."

Sophomore Doug Quire was second in tackles with four. Garduno had 64 yards on 11 carries and Mathis had 50 yards on eight carries.

Trimble County improved to 2-4 on the season while the Warriors fell to 0-7.

when Sarah Foree scored from close range on a rebound shot after Teressa DeWeese almost scored on a corner kick by Micah Hardin.

Ten minutes later Micah Lineman scored from 20 yards out when she received a good pass from Izzy Miller and side-footed the ball into the right side of the net.

Vegh's goal came from near the penalty spot when she received a pass from Micah Hardin on the right wing and found herself with plenty of time to slot it home.

The Lady Cats continued to keep possession for most of remaining minutes of the game, as they were able to play their substitutes and give goalkeeper Sophie Hughes a chance to play in the field.

Carroll County had one good scoring opportunity late when they were awarded a penalty kick. Backup goalkeeper Katie Miller was in goal but the Lady Panthers' penalty taker pulled the shot wide left of the goal to preserve the team's sixth shutout of the season.

school season, but the state tournament is the one that she wants."

MacKenzie Peyton was excited to take the regional title that has eluded her in the past but is looking forward to making a run at the state title.

"I've played in a lot of regional tournaments and it feels great to finally get the win," she said. "For this to be my senior year and have so much success is a great feeling, but I'm not done. I still have one more to go."

MacKenzie said she feels the timing is right for her.

"I am going into the state tournament feeling confident," she said. "Not because of winning in a playoff, but just because I'm confident in my swing and my ability to make a lot of birdies right now."

Peyton's teammate, Maddie Hensley also qualified for state with an eight-over 80 to finish eighth in the tournament. Hensley is only an eighth-grader but she has plenty of experience at the state tournament already.

"This is Maddie's third year making it to the state tournament and I hope the experience will help her make the cut for the second round this time around," Coach Peyton said.

Henry County's other two players, sophomore Bayleigh Boyer, and Niki Perkinson, an eighth-grader, also gained valuable experience. Boyer shot 108 and Perkinson shot 115 to give Henry County a team score of 373 to give the team a fifth place finish in the field of 14 teams.

Sacred Heart won the team competition with a very impressive score of 300. Shelby County finished second with a score of 329 and DuPont Manual finished third with a score of 360. Shelby County and Sacred Heart qualify for the team competition at the state tournament.

Coach Peyton felt his team's slow start hurt them.

"After our first five holes, we had three eights and a seven on our scorecards, which is hard to make up in a region as strong as ours," he said. "I was proud of the way we settled down and got over our nerves to finish fifth out of 14 teams."

and kill on back-to-back plays made it 21-15 in favor of the Warriors and forced Bullitt Central into their second timeout of the game. But the timeout did not stop the Warriors' momentum as Coomes got another kill to make it 22-15. An error by the Lady Cougars on the next point made it 23-15 and put the game out of reach.

It was the Lady Cougars who got off to good start in the second game as they built a six-point lead at 13-7. The Warriors kept the margin within striking distance until a 4-0 run brought them within two points at 15-13.

The Warriors eventually tied the score at 18 on a Bullitt Central hitting error. After the teams traded points, the Lady Cougars went on a 5-0 run to make it 24-19.

The Warriors scored the next three points to give themselves a chance before a well-placed tip by Bullitt Central ended the game and tied the match at one game apiece.

The Warriors started game three with a 5-1 run that featured two tips from Kennedy Fitzgerald and a kill and block from Coomes.

At 8-3 Bullitt Central scored three straight to make it 8-6.

But the Warriors extended the lead back to five points at 12-7 on a kill by Destany Crawford.

From there the Lady Cougars gradually climbed back into the game with strong outside hitting and tied the score at 19-19 on an ace. Bullitt Central scored the next three points to take a 21-19 lead before the Warriors got the serve back on a Lady Cougar hitting error. Two more BC errors made it 21-22 before the Lady Cougars got another kill from their outside hitter to make it 23-21.

A tip at the net by Coomes made it 23-22 before two straight Bullitt Central hitting errors made it 24-23 in favor of the Warriors.

Bullitt Central called timeout with the match on the line and came out with two consecutive kills and an ace to take the game and match.

Coach Morgan Bullock was disappointed but thought her team competed well.

"Overall, I was proud of their effort, but we couldn't cope with all the hitters and subs they had," Bullock said. "Considering the size of school and the pool of players they have to draw from, I thought it was great that we gave them such a tough time. We had them on the ropes but just couldn't pull it out."

Bullock had praise for two of her hitters.

"Emily Coomes has really come on since the Frankfort tournament and minimized her errors," Bullock said. "She has turned her hitting up and is playing very smart.

"Destany Crawford has a much more focused game now," Bullock continued. "She has gotten some key blocks and is making less hitting errors. She is also coming up with some balls on the back row that she didn't get to earlier in the season."

EHS 3 Gallatin 2

After defeating the Lady Wildcats 3-0 earlier in the season the Warriors got a surprisingly tough game when they hosted them in their final district matchup of the regular season.

The Warriors survived 25-18, 22-25, 16-25, 25-19, 15-9 but it wasn't easy.

"I think we came in a little bit like we were going to step on the court and get the win," Bullock said. "We told them they had to earn the win. It was our mantra for the night. It was not our best game. Emily struggled more than she has of late and that affected us a great deal as a team."

Bullock thought the team's newfound spirit helped them more than technical skills.

"Even though we weren't playing our best, the fight we've developed over the past couple of weeks pulled us through," she said. "The team picked it up when our backs were to the wall and our togetherness played a big role in keeping this from being a tough loss. It also helped that Roxana Ramos had a big night serving the ball."

Spencer 2 EHS 0

The Warriors traveled to Taylorsville Thursday night and fell to the Lady Bears 25-15, 25-21.

After a good performance against Bullitt Central and toughing it out against Gallatin County, Bullock was little disappointed in the team's effort against Spencer County.

"Sometimes non-district games late in the season are hard to get motivated for," Bullock said. "We were slow. The girls seemed distracted and focused on other things."

Bullock said her team led early in the game but that return of serve became a problem.

In the second game neither team played particularly well.

"The second game was closer," Bullock said. "We made a lot of errors but so did they. But we did do better returning serves. We stayed two to three points down the whole way. We could never get over the hump to take over the game."

Bullock felt that it was important for the team to put this match behind them.

"We have three matches to get ready for district," she said. "We need to focus and use them as a final preparation because we want to be playing our best volleyball at tournament time."

also called into action in the final minutes when he had to make a save on open shot from 18 yards out.

The second half started brightly for the Wildcats as Trevor Sanders had an excellent shot saved at the 36:38 mark and Jacob Buckley also had a shot saved by theoutstanding Panther keeper.

"We had our chances, especially at the beginning of the second half," Coach Bobby Jameson said. "We wanted to win that first ten minutes of the second half and tie it up and put the pressure on them to beat us. But their goalkeeper made two great saves and took the momentum away from us."

The game settled into a period where neither team got many good chances after that and then Carroll County hit the Cats on a counterattack after the ball went out of bounds off the Cats deep in Panther territory.

After a good throw-in the Panthers got the ball quickly downfield and a nice through pass found Carroll's top striker one on one with Aneszko. The striker hit a low hard shot into the bottom left corner, giving Aneszko no chance for a save. With 18:30 to go, Carroll led 2-0.

"They are good at counterattacking and they caught us out a couple of times and we paid the price," Jameson said.

The Panthers added a final goal on a penalty kick for a handball call in the penalty box with 2:38 left.

That made the margin 3-0 and ended any chance of a Wildcat comeback, but the game was closer than the final score indicated.

"We still need to do a better job of passing the ball from back to front," Jameson said. "We have to control the ball when we defend well and take it away from the other team. Carroll kept their spacing wide which made us chase the small triangles."

Jameson also credited Carroll with a good defensive game plan.

"They took away Gavin's favorite move all night," he said. "They had him well-scouted.

"I'm proud of the kids," Jameson said. "They left it all out there. We look forward to hopefully playing them again in the district championship."

Whitefield Academy 5 HCHS 0

The Wildcats hosted a skilled, experienced Whitefield Academy team Thursday night and hung tough with the visiting team through the first 38 minutes.

Whitefield displayed good passing and teamwork throughout the opening half but the Wildcats kept their organization strong defensively and continued to thwart their opponents' attacks.

Whitefield's biggest chance came at the 20-minute mark when they were awarded a free kick just outside the 18-yard box from straight away. The Whitefield striker put the ball around the wall and Aneszko had to make a nice save to keep the teams even on the scoreboard.

Jakob Buckley had the Cats' best chance of the first half when he set up in front of goal and took a long throw in from Jameson and headed the ball backward. The ball sailed just over the bar to the relief of the Whitefield goalkeeper who had no chance for a save.

With 1:21 left in the half, Whitefield finally broke through when a winger dribbled from deep on the wing into the penalty area and got behind the defense for an easy 10-yard shot that Aneszko had no chance on.

The breakthrough goal seemed to give confidence to the visiting Wildcats as they came out and scored the second goal just three minutes into the second half on a nice through ball that sprung the striker free behind Henry County's defense.

Aneszko was forced into action 10 minutes later when he had to save a shot from close range.

Jameson had the next chance when Buckley made a nice cross to Jameson's head but Whitefield's keeper was able to make the save.

After that it began to be one-way traffic as Whitefield began to assault the home team's goal. Aneszko made another nice save at 26:17 and Whitfield missed a third goal by inches just seconds later.

After a nice chip shot by Trevor Sanders went just over the bar, Whitefield broke through for the third game with 21:33 left.

Whitefield seemed to grow in confidence in the final minutes and added two more goals before the game ended.

"Athletically, they were not better than us but they were more skilled at some positions," Jameson said. "They had such good possession skills that it surprised us. They didn't attack quickly most of the time. They built their attacks."

Jameson thinks his team is not far from breaking through against a strong opponent.

"We have yet to trust each other," he said. "If we have an Achilles heel that is it. They all think they have to make a play. If we could ever get that right we could be special."

Jameson thought his team lacked the maturity of the Whitefield side.

"They were very mature with ten seniors in the starting lineup," Jameson said. "We had five sophomores in the starting lineup. That makes a difference."

The Henry County Lady Cats hosted Carroll County Sept. 30 and came away with 3-0 victory despite a lackluster first half. The team also welcomed back top scorer Rachel Vegh from a two-week layoff due to injury. Vegh played sparingly as she works her way back from a knee injury but managed to score with 21:19 left in the game.

The first half ended scoreless despite the fact that the Lady Cats possessed the ball for almost the entire 40-minute period but produced few clear-cut scoring chances.

The Eminence Warriors dropped two of three matches last week but got the one that mattered most as they defeated Gallatin County 3-2 to earn the second seed in the 31st District tournament. The Warriors started the week with a heartbreaking defeat in an entertaining and exciting 2-1 loss to Bullitt Central and ended the week with a 2-0 loss to Spencer County.

The Warriors started strong against the big school from Sheperdsville. They started with a 3-1 lead and extended that lead to 9-4 early before the Lady Cougars made a little run to get within 9-8.

After a tip by Roxana Ramos extended the lead back to four at 12-8, Bullitt Central scored five in a row to lead 13-12 and force the Warriors into a timeout.

The Warriors came out of the timeout and dominated the rest of the game by outscoring the Lady Cougars 13-7 the rest of the way to win 25-18. A block

Peyton wins Regional Championship

Hensley qualifies for state with 80

GREG WOODS/LOCAL

MAcKenzie Peyton sank this putt on the third hole at Midland Trail Golf Course on her way to a one-under par 71 in the Region V golf tournament Sept. 29 as Maddie Hensley, left, and her father Jimmy Hensley looked on. Hensley finished in eighth place and qualified for state.

MacKenzie Peyton has won a lot of golf tournaments in her high school career but two, the regional and state championships, have eluded her. Peyton can reduce her wish list to just one item after winning the Region Five golf championship in a one-hole playoff with Maddie Hamilton of Sacred Heart on Sept. 29 at Midland Trail Golf Course in Louisville.

Peyton's round did not start well as she hit her drive at the first hole far right and ended up under two large trees, and faced with trying to punch under the trees and over a sand bunker. After conferring with her coach and grandfather, William Peyton, she decided to punch out away from the bunker and take her chances at getting up and down with a good chip and one-putt. Her plans went awry when she ended up in the bunker anyway. That led to a double bogey to start her round.

After that, Peyton was in a little trouble on the second hole when she hit far right again. But she was able to save par and that seemed to put her on the right road for the rest of her round.

After the opening double bogey, Peyton played the rest of her round in 4-under to finish with a two-under 70.

Peyton sank a long putt on three for her first birdie and went on to birdie 14, 15 and 18. She made par on every other hole.

But Peyton had to wait for a while to celebrate, as she finished with Hamilton still on the course at one-under with two holes to play.

Hamilton, who tied Peyton for runner-up in the state tournament last year, made a seven-foot downhill putt on the final hole to force a playoff.

The two friendly rivals went to the 18th hole for a playoff that would decide the regional champion. Both players had just birdied the par-4 hole.

Peyton ended up on the green in two, but Hamilton hit out of bounds and that meant that all Peyton had to do was three-putt to win the tournament. Peyton two-putted for par to claim the title over the defending regional champion.

"After a very nervous and exciting finish to the tournament, I think Kenzie has a lot of confidence going into the state tournament," Coach Peyton said. "She has put a lot of pressure on herself this season to do as well or better than last season and so far, she has done just that. She has won four major tournaments this high

The Henry County Wildcats' soccer team hosted the Carroll County Panthers Sept. 30 in the final regular season district matchup of the season. Devin Trautwein passes the ball upfield in the Wildcats' 3-0 loss to Carroll County Sept. 30.

For 60 minutes it was just that as the Panthers got a lone goal midway through the first half in a game that was tight until then.

The goal came on a counterattack just after Gavin Jameson had come close for the Wildcats at 22:53 when he streaked down the right side and unleashed a shot that went across the goalmouth just wide.

The Carroll County goalkeeper quickly started the counterattack and when a Wildcat defender missed on a clearance attempt, the Panthers striker got an open shot from close range to make it 1-0 with 22:35.

The goal didn't seem to rattle the Wildcats as they continued to play good defense and created the occasional scoring opportunity.

Jameson had two attempts in the final 10 minutes. The first went across the face of the goal and the second was saved.

Raiders run past Warriors

BY GREG WOODS
sports@hclocal.com

The Eminence Warriors hosted the Trimble County Raiders on homecoming night Friday night hoping to get their first win of the season, but it was not to be as the Raiders scored 28 first half points to put the game away early.

The first quarter was played fairly evenly as Eminence took the opening kick and got a big 17-yard run from Cameron Mathis on second and 14. A Raider defender was called for a 15-yard face mask penalty to put the Warriors in Trimble territory at the 44-yard line.

But the Warrior drive stalled out at the 39-yard line when quarterback Trevor Payton was sacked on fourth and five.

After the Raiders got a 15-yard run on their first play from scrimmage, they coughed up the ball and the Warriors recovered at their own 37-yard line.

The Warriors could get nothing going on their second possession and were forced to punt.

The Raiders took over on their own 46-yard
